R&B was established by David and Christine Riggall after 10 years' running an IBM dealership, parochially named Yorkside Personal Computers Ltd. Founded in 1984 it served 250+ public and private sector organisations throughout Yorkshire & Humberside. Yorkside's distinctive logo, combining the Yorkshire rose and Humber bridge, was retained and is still used today. R&B specialised exclusively as IT advisers to firms of solicitors, from 1994 to 2001, until in response to the down-turn in demand for its services in the post Y2K years, the legal market took a back seat for 18 months, whilst Rose & Bridge Associates business mentors was launched, offering non exec sales & marketing advice to IT ventures.

Rose & Bridge Associates' interim management and business development successes, both within and outside the legal market, lead in due course to today's metamorphosis and ITaa re-branding, offering "IT advice & assistance" to organisations of every type, size and market sector, including commerce, government and industry (<http://www.ITaa.Biz>).
